Boxing Should Be Organized on a National Basis as Is Golf, Bowling and Other Sports.

Copyright, 1918, by The Press Publishing Co. (The New York Evening World).

A NATIONAL organization is needed for boxing.

If the fight sport is to retain its war popularity there should be an association formed that would include all sections of the country. Such an organization should be powerful enough to rid rings of several objectionable features that put boxing in an unfavorable light, especially in this State.

The need of a boxing organization was plainly seen when preliminary arrangements were started for the sport section of the United War Workers' campaign this month. Appeals were sent to representative sport heads and their individual sport was organized and ready for immediate action. Boxing was the only exception. Ring volunteers quickly answered the call, men like Sunny Jim Coffroth, who came all the way from San Francisco; Charlie Harvey, Billy Gibson and others, but these pioneers had to go it alone. They had no association or central body to work through.

On the other hand golf, for instance, utilized the National and Metropolitan Associations for appeals to individuals and golf clubs. The task was easy because the sport was well organized.

Same thing for bowling. Old Joe Thum had only to say the word and letters were speedily sent to the hundreds of members of the United Bowling Clubs, a directing body that supervises the alley game in this country.

Football, billiards, trap shooting, every sport that was urged to help raise funds for the seven war relief societies were all prepared for the work which lay before them. Compared to these business-like methods boxing is a big loser. The glove game had to wobble around on a hit-or-miss basis to stage shows throughout the land during the week of the big drive.

For the purpose, boxing will go over big, but it will be mainly due to the enthusiasm of individuals who rallied to the cause and rolled up their sleeves for the directing end of the campaign.

For its own good the many art of self-defense ought to get busy and organize and so prepare for the sport enthusiasm that is being broadcast when the strain of war is lifted.

WILLIE LEWIS has been notified by Dr. Joseph Hapgood that he has been appointed boxing instructor by the Commission on Training Camp Activities and will be assigned to Camp Gordon, where many New York boys are quartered. A wise selection.

About seven years ago Willie Lewis perfected a system of scientifically delivered punches that latter-day stars found good use of. Much of the cleverness shown by a Mike Gibbons or a Packey McFarland could be easily traced back to Willie Lewis. He was the one who invented the one-two punch and other forms of ring skill that became pugilistic standards.

Willie, like an Alexander seeking more worlds to conquer, migrated to France six years ago and introduced the wallop sport to the French. He and Joe Jeannette were in great demand after the Parisians caught onto the new imported sport.

Lewis and his manager, Dan McKelrick, were decorated by the French for meritorious work bringing

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due to the use of too much of an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and endures should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with it, and it is widely known that this is a most unwise course. But a teaspoonful of the powder of the excess acidity which may be present and prevent the food from being properly digested, and the whole cause of the trouble and the most disagreeable and healthful remedy, without need of drastic or artificial diet.

Coach Fred Dawson Of Columbia Eleven Stricken With the 'Flu'

In His Absence Tom Thorp Will Handle Unfortunate Team.

THE Columbia S. A. T. C. football team was dealt another blow yesterday when Fred Dawson, head coach, was taken ill. Dawson, it is believed, has a touch of Spanish influenza, for his temperature mounted rapidly and he was hurried home to bed. In his absence Tom Thorp, who has been acting as assistant coach for the past week or two, jumped into the breach and assumed full command.

If Dawson should be prevented from being with the team during the next ten days it is more than probable that he would be able to spend more than three or four days with it before the end of the month, because under the present arrangements he is supposed to leave for Princeton on Nov. 11 to begin a two-weeks' intensive course in physical training in order to fit him for a position of S. A. T. C. physical director.

No new developments were forthcoming yesterday as to the schedule, but it was said that Levering Tyson, graduate manager of athletics, expected to leave for Ithaca to-morrow to make final arrangements for the game with Cornell, as it is understood that the Ithaca men practically have decided to keep their date with the Blue and White on Nov. 30.

Charles Hatedorn, Mapes, Chairman of the University Committee on Athletics, watched the football practice and, although he would not confirm rumors that Columbia was about to schedule several attractive games, he said the next few days held forth the promise of big developments in a football way for the Moroside eleven.

Thorp uncovered two brilliant players in a scrimmage between the varsity and the scrub. The new men were Collins, who was a crack halfback at Cornell several years ago, and Towers, a young tackle who tore the varsity line to shreds in the afternoon's drill. Towers was a Metchen High School boy and is now taking the regular academic course at Columbia. He is a husky youth, stripping at more than 200 pounds and standing more than 6 feet high in his stockings.

Thorp put him in the scrub line and almost single handed he outfooted the varsity. He plunged and ripped through the scrub backs had no difficulty in gaining, and on the defensive it took half the varsity line to hold him. Collins played left end for the scrub and did yeoman service.

All of the cripples returned to the gym among them, Lieut. Robb and Jim Houlahan, both of whom were pretty badly used up against the Amherst eleven. Stevens, Zychinsky and Robinson were on deck, as were Memmott and Chanspery. The latter got into the scrimmage, playing fullback on the varsity eleven for part of the time.

The scrum-hunters on Hamilton Hall were used for the first time in order to make the few minutes of daylight stretch out as far as possible. Under the regulations the football eleven is permitted to stay on the field until 7:30, but it was found that the extra half hour which was granted was virtually useless, because the daylight failed at 5 o'clock or a few minutes afterward. It was then decided to get the scrum-hunters working, and the white ghost ball was introduced in order to make it less difficult to follow the leader.

Because of the war developments it was said that Charles Shaw, who has been acting as an evening training school, and Robinson and Kraus, the tackle, who have been commended to an officers' training camp, might be called to leave the post for some time.

With the N. Y. U. game only three days off, Stinking sent the Fortham S. A. T. C. football squad through a long stiff drill yesterday afternoon. Much of the time was given over to a scrimmage with Fortham Prep. The varsity tackle tore through the lighter team at will. Ryan and Barnes getting away for several long runs.

Frank Taboraki, world's champion at pocket billiards, and J. Howard Shoemaker, amateur champion, will meet in a special match for the benefit of the United War Work Campaign in a few days. A telegram was received from Taboraki yesterday morning, stating that he was in New York and would be in the city for the match.

Sport Briefs

George Stallings, manager of the Boston Braves, refused $15,000 for the release of Hank Gowdy, the first major league baseball player to enlist in the army shortly after war was declared.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 7.—The National Baseball Commission decided against Roger Peckinpaugh, Captain of the New York Yankees, here to-day in his claim against the club for $25,000. Peckinpaugh contended that his contract called for $2,500 for a season of 174 days, or at the rate of $14.37 a day. Because of the war the American League season was cut short and he was paid $4,216.62, whereas he thought he should have received $4,416.60 on the per diem rate.

By defeating Marshall, the United States champion, in the twelfth round of the international chess championship, Boris Kostich of Serbia further strengthened his hold on second place and drew nearer to Capablanca's Havana, who yesterday had a bye, besides having in hand an adjourned game with Chavles.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 7.—The regular season of the Annapolis Academy, in putting over a fine forward guard play, Kessler, for the Woodruff, and scoring from midfield. The new mid-fielder was played over this time. He had a very good game, and he was the forward pass play and then stung them up against the youngsters for defensive training. The game was started the fourth class men put the play over.

Playing against the crack soccer team representing the Robins Dry Dock and Boat Building Company at Fort Belknap, Brooklyn, the Chinese Students eleven were beaten by a score of 6 goals to 0.

Frank Taboraki, world's champion at pocket billiards, and J. Howard Shoemaker, amateur champion, will meet in a special match for the benefit of the United War Work Campaign in a few days. A telegram was received from Taboraki yesterday morning, stating that he was in New York and would be in the city for the match.

A number of fast battle planes will fly from Garden City, L. I., to-day, bound for Scranton, Pa., where the Air Service will be holding a contest for the prize of $10,000. The planes will be flown by the Air Service, and the contest will be held at the Scranton Race Track.

Players representing Lawlor's Billiard Academy of Brooklyn won an opening round of the final round for the novice straight rail championship, defeating the team of the National A. C. of Philadelphia at the billiard parlors of the first named last night.

Chick Evans, the St. Paul heavyweight, is another one of the stars of the squared circle who is perfectly willing to do all he can for the United War Campaign Fund drive. Billy wired Jimmy Coffroth, the big promoter of the fight end of the campaign, to-day, to the effect that he is ready to fight six men in as many nights, and that Coffroth can select the men and also send him to whatever places he thinks his services would help to bring in the money.

Chick Evans is one of the most picturesque and sensational figures on American golf links. Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, British champions, pronounced the local youth the most brilliant of all American amateurs back in 1912.

Evans has won the Western amateur titles several times. He also captured the national championship. Then he announced the professional title. Evans, Travers and Outimet are the only American golfers to win both national titles.

War Cloud Again Proves In Race at Pimlico He's Most Unreliable

Shame to Think Jockey Loftus Was Blamed for Defeat by John.

(Special to The Evening World.)

BALTIMORE, Nov. 6. WAR CLOUD is not a regular horse. Just a now and then horse. When at his best, which happens about four times a season, with at least three to four weeks between each race, he is nearly first class; but he is no knockout artist, willing to meet all comers at all times and places.

When one reviews War Cloud's races this year it is nothing short of a crime to think that Jockey Loftus was suspended by A. K. Macomber for two months because John best him in the race for the Belmont Stakes. John did beat him, but can beat him ninety-nine times out of a hundred in a race of a mile and three furlongs.

War Cloud started in the Pimlico annual handicap, worth $5,000. He showed he had no taste for the task ahead of him by his behavior at the barrier. He jerked up his head at the start and pulled back from the barrier. After which he did manage to beat Reconnut, but real horses, such as Extremator and The Porter, not mentioning the in and out, Foreground, beat him to a frazzle.

Extremator took The Porter by the head and just raced him dizzy, after which he won easily by half a length. The fact that Enner and not Knapp had the mount lent color to the report that "Big Bill" Knapp will not have his contract renewed next year by W. S. Kilmer. It's true that Knapp's contract expired Nov. 1, but when one considers the many good races that he has ridden for Kilmer in the past two seasons it would seem that if the relationship between employer and jockey was cordial Knapp would have been asked to ride yesterday. He could easily have made the weight, 115 pounds. Perhaps Kilmer didn't like the way Knapp rode Extremator at Laurel, when he lost that race by allowing Midway to slip up on the inside. By this means Midway beat Extremator a nose.

The dangers of steeplechase racing were never better nor more unpleasantly exemplified than when "Doc" Taylor was seriously hurt while riding Water Toast in the Baltimore steeplechase for maidens. Bughouse fell at the eleventh jump and Water Toast tumbled over him. These things had scarcely happened when Outlaw came along and fell over the prostrate jockeys and horses. Taylor was struck on the head by the hoofs of Outlaw and is now in the Baltimore General Hospital unconscious from concussion of the brain. Taylor has been riding steeplechase horses only a short while.

Jefferson Park will start the winter racing season by throwing open its gates on Saturday, Nov. 23. It was thought for a time that the epidemic of Spanish influenza in the South would postpone the opening, but Gad Brian, one of the big stockholders in the track and the managing director, has just telegraphed to his partner, James F. O'Hara, that the meeting will open on the regular date. Many horses are already on the grounds and two special horse trains will leave Maryland at the conclusion of the Pimlico meeting.

Two eight-round bouts will be the stellar events at the next boxing show of the Army A. A. of Jersey City, at Grand View Auditorium, on Monday night. Manager Jennings has signed up Henry Valzer, the French featherweight, to meet Tommy Phoebe of Paterson, N. J., in one of the bouts, while in the other Harlan Eddie Kelly will go punch with Terry Mitchell, the Scotman fighter.

Frank Hagley, who looks after the affairs of both Henry Valzer and Willie Jackson, the light-weight, is hot on the trail of Jimmy Dunlop, as he wants to have both his men take on Dunlop in bouts for the United War Campaign Fund. "I am willing to let both Valzer and Jackson box Dunlop on alternate nights," said Hagley, "as I think that these bouts will help along the good cause."

A large of absence can be obtained for Charles Weinst, the Newark heavyweight, who is stationed at the Pelham Bay naval station, a month will be readily arranged between him and Gus Turner, the Italian fighter, to be fought at the Broad Street Club of Newark, N. J., in about two weeks. Matchmaker Fallon is trying hard to bring these two big fellows together, as he figures that they will furnish a great battle.

The ten-round bout between Ritchie Mitchell of Milwaukee and Walter Friedman of Chicago, at present in the service of Uncle Sam in the West, which was postponed twice on account of the Spanish influenza in Milwaukee, is probably off for good, as Friedman's father died recently and Mitchell is going across shortly to box at the King's boxing carnival in London on Dec. 11 and 12.

Johnny Ertle, the little St. Paul bantam-weight, has just been signed up for another battle. Besides meeting Frankie Burns of Jersey City on next Saturday night in an eight-round bout at Extremator's Riding Academy at Weehawken, N. J., he will go against Jack Sharkey, the local bantam-weight, in the star bout at the same-weights slow to be held by the National A. C. of Philadelphia on Thanksgiving Day afternoon. This will be a six-round go.

Having defeated Jack Clifford, the Brooklyn heavyweight, without much trouble in his victory, last night at the Army A. A. of Jersey City on Tuesday night, Ray Turner, the Italian light-heavyweight, will rest up a few days and then indulge in a strenuous course of training for his important bout with Kid Norfolk, the colored heavyweight, which is booked to be held at the Army A. A. of Boston on Tuesday evening, Nov. 19.

"Pros" to Hold War Fund Tourney at North Shore Country Club Nov. 14.

The Professional Golfers' Association has decided to hold the tournament for the benefit of the United War Work Campaign at the North Shore Country Club, the date, as previously announced, to be Thursday, Nov. 14. Another event will also be held under the direction of the P. G. A. at the Country Club of Atlantic City on Monday next.

Conditions at North Shore provide for fifteen holes, and entries will close with Herbert Strong at Roslyn, L. I., on next Tuesday, although post entries will be accepted. Every professional will contribute an entrance fee of $5, and it is expected that extra money will be raised at the clubhouse. At Atlantic City the meeting will be over the thirty-six hole round. Among these who are planning to compete over the short course are Alec Smith, Gil Nichols and George Pottinger, while a large delegation of professionals from the Philadelphia district is expected to take part.

Frederick S. Wheeler has been named as President of the United States Golf Association for the second year. This is in accordance with custom, as it has been an unwritten law since the inception of the national body that every chief executive serve two terms, and there has been only one exception to this rule. That was last year when Howard W. Perrin resigned the reins of leadership after having been President for only a year.

Practically the same ticket of officers and executive committees for 1919 has been named by the Nominating Board, the only exception being the substitution of Elmer F. Mitchell of Wilmington to take the place of Asa F. French of Boston. The new ticket reads as follows: President, Frederick S. Wheeler, Apawamis; Vice Presidents, Dr. W. S. Harban, Washington, and Sterling E. Edmunds, St. Louis; Secretary, Howard F. Whitney, Nassau; Treasurer, Mortimer N. Buckner, Garden City; Executive Committee, Frank E. Miller, J. P. Myers, Elmer E. Mitchell, W. P. Cleaver and Thomas H. Payne.

Eighteen holes at Bay Side in the morning and a like number at the Garden City Golf Club in the afternoon is the way a quartet of professionals will decide a four ball match to-morrow. The contestants are Herbert Strong of the Engineers' Country Club and C. W. Singleton of Oakland, opposed to Carl Anderson, unattached, and Herbert Martin of Bay Side.

JACK DEMPSEY SCORES KNOCKOUT OVER BAT LEVINSKY

Hebrew Sent to Dreamland for First Time in Career With Right to Jaw in Third Round.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—With sledge-hammer punch that would be denied, Jack Dempsey quickly battered Bat Levinsky into submission in their bout here.

Working from the start to land haymaker, he landed a terrific right hand swing to the jaw in the third round, which sent his opponent down and out. It was the first time in his experience that the New Yorker had ever taken the K. O. There was no doubt about it. He was crumpled up all in, and had to be aided to his corner.

At the start, Levinsky reached Jack twice on the nose with light jabs, but he never had a chance thereafter. Dempsey broke down Levinsky's defense and soon had him man wobbling. In the second, Levinsky clung to his rival after receiving severe punishment and managed to last out the session. The third saw the finish, with Dempsey taking the first good opening to make victory certain. The end came just 35 seconds after the round started.

Jimmy Dougherty, the promoter of the bout, being the only man satisfactory to the principals, was the third man in the ring. In the opening bout Joe Ward of Kansas City knocked out the Alabama Kid in the first round with a right swing to the jaw. They are negro heavyweights.

Joe Burman, a Chicago bantam, outpointed Young McGovern of this city in six rounds. McGovern outboxed and outbait his opponent and McGovern was hanging on in the fifth and sixth sessions.

Johnny Dundee of New York shaded Gusie Lewis of this city in another spirited "new-bout."

GUS LANG TO DESERT AMATEUR BIKE RANKS

Gus Lang, America's champion amateur cyclist, has decided to abandon the amateur ranks. He will make his professional debut in the international six day race in Madison Square Garden the week of Dec. 1-7. His entry was received yesterday and now the race committee is looking around for a suitable partner for this wonderful speed merchant. Lang, in annexing the championship of the world, has won several distances and finished in front thirty-two times. Three times he was second and won four times. He is a better showing than was ever made by Kramer, and it also overshadowed his performance of Marcus Hurley, who was at the top about fifteen years ago.
